"Yes; after thorough investigation we are satisfied that bituminous rock is the best, and we have concluded to adopt it for all of our lines. We will lay a bed of stone, broken small enough to pass through a two-inch ring, and upon this put a layer of the prepared material. Something must be done. Here we have ten teams hauling gravel all the time. They no sooner get well over the roads than they have to commence and give them another coat. Half the gravel gets under the wheels and makes an unbearable nuisance, and the other half powders up and blows off. On our double-track lines we propose to pave between the rails and two feet each side, making a strip sixteen feet wide in the middie of the street. Yes, we shall pave the cable lines as well as the others, with the same material." SKALPERS! R. J. PRYKE & Co., 212

anything bad until now. As soon as the affair became public yesterday morning the District Attorney called his deputies together and gave them orders to attend to the matter. They learned that Petrie was not able to leave his room or even swear to a complaint. He stated, soon after the vitriot-throwing, that he proposed to get out a complaint, and prosecute the case for all that is in it. Yesterday he made it known that he was still anxious to have both the husband and wife arrested. But no steps were taken toward getting out a warrant until after 5 o'clock last evening, when Deputy Constable Hunter stated that he was willing to swear to a complaint on information and belief. Deputy District Attorney Harrison drew it up, and a warrant was issued at once. The warrant was placed in the hands of Constable Ed R. Smith, and a 5:50 o'clock last night, Smith and a Times reporter knocked at the front door of Mr. Martin's house, No. 129 College street, where all the parties interested in the case live. Rozelle and his wife were found in their room. They did not seem to be surprised to see an officer, but they were thunderstruck when they learned that Petrie had not made the complaint and was not able to be out of his room. They put on their wraps at once, and asked Smith if he would go with them to their lawyer, who lived in East Los Adgeles. They walked quietly down to the street cars and went over to have a talk with their attorney. The Times man asked several questions, but Mrs. Rozelle refused to open her mouth, and her husband said he would not talk. He had made his statement and would have nothing more to say. While waiting for a street car, he stood with his arm around his wife. She is a tall, well-built woman, and seems to be about 40 years of age. She is not remarkable for beauty, and does not look like a woman who would inspire such warmth in a man's bosom as would cause him to put his neck in a trap.

At 19:30 Constable Smith arrived at the City Court room with Mrs. Rozelle and her husband, who is a tall, sic MAGNOLIA-TO LET-FURNISHED ROOMS, WITH board, at MRS. BROWN'S, No. 539 S. Hill. TO LET-TWO BEAUTIFUL FRONT rooms, furnished. 127 S. Fort st.

THE "OAKLAND PETS" DEFEAT THE PECK & RUGGLES.

Good but Quiet Game, with a Score of 5 to 1, Dedicates the New Grounds at Agricultural Park— Synopsis of the Game.

A fair audience assembled at Agricultural Park yesterday to witness the initial game of the "Oakland Peta" in Los Angeles. The game, though hotly contested, was a rather quiet one, though both clubs did some brilliant work in the fifth and sixth innings. Van Haltren and McDonald constituted the battery for the "Peta," and Knell and Morelock for the Peck & Ruggles. Van Haltren, of whom the castern press have spoken so highly, pitched a good game, and proves himself, by his masterly control of the ball, to be one of the greatest twirlers in the United States. He was ably supported by McDonald, whose throwing to second was one of the features of the mame. Knell also pitched a good game, striking out five men and holding the Greenhood & Morans down to five hits. Morelock caught his delivery in an excellent manner. Ryan, formerly of Los Angeles, played a good first, and wields the willow as of yore. Conn's long hit to left garden for three bases, in the fourth inning, won great applause from the spectators.

The game opened by the Peck & Ruggles winning the toss and going to the field, retiring the Greenhood & Morans in one, two, three order.

The Greenhood & Morans retaliated by sending them again to their places, with three goose-eggs to their credit.

The second inning was a repetition of the first, and both nines were foudly appleaded for their work. The Greenhood & Morans came in from the field with an anxious look, and opened up the inning by Nolan hitting to third for a base, going to second on Donovan's short hit to Knell, who threw wild to first, allowing Nolan to reach third and Donovan the initial. The Greenhood & Morans again soon retired after having three men on bases, by Ryar going out at first, Guernett fanning, and Donovan's high fity to Conn. Conn opened with a three-bagger to left, amid great cheers, coming home on Morelock's short hit at second, scoring the only run of the game for the Peck & Ruggles. HE CLEANED IT.

A telephone message reached the police station from No. 101 yesterday morning, saying that a man was in the back yard of 126 Sau Pedro street, blazing away with a six-shooter. An officer was detailed to look six-shooter. An officer was detailed to look the matter up, and, when he arrived at the house, he found an old Frenchman in the back yard whirling around like a top, discharging a pistol as fast as he could work his finger. The officer rushed into the circle between shots and captured the old man. When questioned as to what he was doing he said his pistol was dirty and he wanted to clean it. He was told that he was breaking one of the laws of the city, and seemed to be very sorry, but really he did not know that there was such a law in existence. He was not arrested, but he will probably be up before the Commissioners of Insanity in a few days.

peculiar case was brought to the ttention of the police yesterday afternoon. Two men named Peter Free and W. P. Campbell, began to quarrel in front of the police office, and for several minutes it looked as if a bloody fight was about to take place. But they findly quieted down and walked off. In less than ten minutes they both came back, and Free wanted Campbell arrested at once. This the officers refused to do, as it was learned that they simply wanted to settle a disputed bill. Free stated that he has been in this city for the past few years, md has worked as engineer for the Philaelphia brewery. He has accumulated some roperty, and a few months ago, Campbell, tho is a countryman of his, assisted him in esting a tax title to some property. When hey came to a settlement Campbell reneed to turn the receipts over to him.

They were informed that they would have bring the matter before the courts in some ther way, and they went off together.

VERSUS SIDE-TRACKS.

Citizens of San Pedro and Alameda Streets Kicking.

A crowded meeting of residents of San Pedro and Alameda streets was held in Justice Austin's courtroom last evening, to express the universal disgust with the side-track nuisance on those streets, and to try to devise a remedy. The meeting was called to order and presided over by Mayor Workman.

Mayor Workman stated that the tracks on Alameda and San Pedro streets are an unquestioned nuisance, but that it would be very expensive to move the tracks down to the river front, especially the Santa Monica track.

Frank Sabichi said that he knew the move would cost money, but he thought the company could afford it, in view of the great favors the city has given the railroad, without any compensation. The railroad has been built at our expense. The county put up money to help build the road. The company was given its depot site. The citizens would be glad to help move these tracks, but don't know what is expected of them. The railroad seems to want everything. If an amicable arrangement can be made, that is best; but this curse should be removed, at whatever cost. Human life is unsafe. I am a law-abiding citizen, but believe that if there is no other remedy we should take the anatter into our own hands. Let the railroad tell what it wants.

Mayor Workman: We want to know citizen, but believe that if there is no other remedy we should take the matter into our own hands. Let the railroad tell what it wants.

Mayor Workman: We want to know what the people want, that we may be able to talk with Mr. Filimore. The railroad will do nothing unless you raise enough money to pay for the removal. I asked them if $20,000 would do. They said that wouldn't lay haif a mile of track. [Mr. Sabichi: "That means $120,000 in all."]

J. A. Ward: If the railroad has a lease or right-of-way on those streets, and cannot be turned out, we can at least regulate their motive nower and speed in the city atreets. Let us have the motive power restricted to horses, and the speed to one mile an hour. It is absurd to think of a city the size of Los Angeles ridden by a railroad company. Dr. Whistler, of San Pedro street, gave a graphic picture of the outrages perpetrated upon the people of his neighborhood by the company. The rest of the people at night is destroyed, their houses and their lives endangered, and ilfe made a burden. He characterized the railroad as a trespasser and a robber, and thought there was corruption somewhere that these outrages had not been stopped before. The people here gave the company $750,000 to build the road, and now the company was riding the people.

Mr. Sabichi moved for a committee of one from each street to act with the Council committee, and confer with the company to see how much money it will take to have the tracks moved.

D. M. McGarry amended to have three from each street. He had suggested, three years ago, that these tracks be removed to the river front. As the city grows, the railroad company, was liberally peppered, the motion for a citizens' committee to confer with the railroad company, was liberally peppered, the motion for a citizens' committee to confer with the railroad company was liberally peppered, the motion for a citizens' committee to confer with the railroad company and President of Council, was carried. The committee was appointed as follows:

carried. The committee was appointed as follows:

For San Pedro street—Frank Sabichi, J. W. Goldsworthy and — Philrucum.

For Alameda street—D. M. McGarry, A. H. Rogers and O. H. Bliss.

Mr. Bliss spoke in favor of having the railroad make some proposition, outlining what they desire. This also seemed to be the sense of the meeting.

It was moved and carried that Council pass an ordinance limiting the speed at which trains shall be run through the streets to six miles an hour.

may develop into a sensation of the most blood-curdling nature. The fire took place at a little house occupied by H. A. Price on Hawkins street, near Workman street. About twonty-five minutes before it was discovered Mrs. Price left the house. She was positive that she left the doors open, and a "great big" bull-pup in the yard. As soon as the alarm was given she left a neighbor's house, where she was visiting, and rushed to her house. What was her astonishment to learn that all of the doors were closed, and the poor bull-pup was making a most pitiful noise in the front room. The neighbors flocked to her assistance, and the dog was released, but the house and its contents could not be saved. In fact, the whole establishment was one mass of flames before the firemen reached the bendle-pup in the house as soon as Mrs. Price left the gate and turned her back on her home? It is stated on good authority 2; what a number of boys who live in the neighborhood had had trouble with the dog. He 7; as never been friendly with them, and even refused to take poisoned meat from their hands. They could not get him from the yard, and how to dispose of their enemy was a mystery for a long time. But a happy thought inspired the leader of the band the other day, and he said to his companions: "It know what we'll do, fellers; we'll wait till we catch the folks away from home some day, and we'll drive that pesky purp in the house and set fire to it." The plan was homes, swearing never to give the thing a long time. But a happy thought house and set fire to it." The plan was homes, swearing never to give the thing house and the dwelling was fired. Just then a switchengine shunted a lot of flats down the side-track so violently that one of the flats jumped the rails and was jammed into the rear passenger coach. Patally Stabbed Alessand at the Roma Hotel Januar People Present Their Case e Begins.

The trial of Costantino Vedani, for the murder of Alexander Talice, proprietor of the Hotel Roma, on Alameda street, in his city, on the 8th of January last, was been yesterday morning in Department Three of the Superior Court, Judge O'Melveny residing, George J. Denis, Assistant District Attorney, appearing on behalf of The Popple and Messrs. McComas and Fisher on behalf of the defendant. Our readers will remember that the jury which was impanieded on Tuesday was discharged. The tollowing jurors have been impaneled to ry the cause: A. N. Harris, P. Williams, A. W. Burke, J. Payne, R. Miller, J. H. Eggan, George Haylock, J. H. Martin, F. Kurle, A. W. Neighbors, G. G. Greening, S. Levy.

Kurle, A. W. Neighbors, G. G. Greening, S. Levy.

The District Attorney stated that the State expected to prove that Bedani had been employed by the deceased prior to January 7th as a cook at the hotel; that he was discharged on the 7th; that he came to the Hotel Roma and entered the diningroom at a time when the guests were not there; that he and deceased entered into a settlement of their accounts; that they had risen from a table at which they had been sitting in the center of the diningroom, owing to some difficulty in the settlement, and that while the deceased was standing with both hands on the shoulders of defendant, Vedani stabbed him with a knife, which will be intoduced in evidence; that the knife entered the abdomen, and that Talice died two days afterward; that the deceased was unarmed and gave no provocation to defendant, and that the murder was murder in the first degree. The first witness called was Sworn: Am a practicing physician. I attended upon Mrs. Theresa Talice, now deceased. I saw her on the eyening of the 25th of March, about 8 o'clock. I saw her the next morning at 6 o'clock. At the latter time she was dead.

Cross-examined: I had no acquaintance with her before. I gave a certificate of her death.

sworn: I am a physician and surgeon, and reside in Los Angeles. I made a post-mortem examination of deceased, Alessanreside in Los Angeles. I made a postmortem examination of deceased, Alessandro Talice, on the 12th day of January last.
[Witness asked permission to examine his notes, taken at the time, stating that he makes nearly all the post-mortem examinations in the county, and does not recollect the result. The Court refused to allow him to testify from the notes until after his memory of the matter had been exhausted.] I made an examination of the body of Alessandro Taliee on January 12th. The deceased was about five feet eight inches or eight and a half inches in height, dark eyes, dark skin, moderately well-nourished dark whiskers. I can not localize the wound exactly without reference to my notes, but I think it was on the left side of the abdomen, about three and a half inches from the median line (showing), about the top of the pants. It was inflicted by a very sharp-pointed knife. It was a clean-cut wound about an inch and a half on the surface, and where it cut the colon about three or four inches. The wound cut the skin, the superficial facie which lies under the skin, the muscles of the abdominal wall, the lining which covers the intestines, and shaved one of the intestines, cutting through the outer skin of the same, known as the transverse colon. It caused death by producing peritonitis, an inflammation of the internal lining. Such wounds are fatal in ninety-five cases out of a hundred. The cavity was filled with fluid, an exudation of serum from the inflammation itself. The wound could have been inflicted with a weapon like the one shown to me.

A NICE LAW POINT.

The prosecution offered to read the testimony of Mrs. Theresa Talice, as taken on the preliminary examination, she being dead.

Counsel for defendant objected upon the ground that the statute has not been compiled with in taking such testimony, inasmuch as the deposition does not show that the witness stated her place of residence or profession or business, citing 54 Cal., 575: "It must appear that the provisions of the above section have been strictly compiled with;" also, that the certificate was not signed at the time the examination was concluded, but at the time when the case was set down for trial some mouths later; also, that the certificate itself is not sufficient.

District Attorney: The name is given. The business of the husband is the business of the pustice is surplusage, The depositions were certified by the reporter.

Evening Session At 7 p. m. work was opened by the de-fense. The opening statement of the de-fense was to the effect that they proposed to prove that the act was done in self-defense; that the defendant was a quiet man, while the deceased was very quarrel-some, and had beaten the defendant unmercifully on the day before, and had sent for him to come to the hotel at the time of the stabbing.

the bar faw Yearni to the bar requested me to send Vedani to his botel as soon as I aw him. I told Vedani, and solid him also not to go, because Talice was too mad. I knew Talice about all years. I was employed by him as a cook in his hotel about a month. I knew his reputation to be that of a very fiery, fighting, excitable man.

Cross-examined: I came from Santa Monica with the Deputy Sheriff this morning. When the Sheriff served the papers on me to come here, I did not tell him that I didn't know anything about this case. I only remarked that I was surprised to be called when I had no notice of it and had not been called before. I knew all about it. I told Vedani to go the next day after Talice cooled down. Vedani said, after I told him what Talice had requested, that he must go to see Talice and settle his accounts. Vedani had been to my house on the previous evening, I am an Italian. Talice was an Italian also. During the month that I worked for Talice I left him three times. During the six years that I knew him we were not good friends for about two years.

sworn: Am acquainted with the defendant. He worked for me about eight months. I know his reputation for peace and quietness. Never knew him to be in a difficulty before.

sworn: I have known the defendant about three years. I saw him on Friday, January 7th, about noon. He was cooking at the Hotel Roma. When I went to supper I saw Talice cooking for himself. I asked him, "Where is the cook?" He was angry, and said: "We had a fight, snd they too settle his accounts, and then I will give him the balance." I did not see Vedani afterward. I did not see the difficulty. I have known Talice since he came to Los Angeles. I knew his reputation. He was a pretty good man in everything, but he was quick-tempered.

GIUSEPPE CICCIELLO

The certificate of the justice is surplusage, The depositions were certified by the reporter.

The Court: I am of opinion that the place of residence of the husband is that of the wife, it being only for the purposes of identification. I do not see but that it is sufficient in this case. The term wife includes all duties which relate to home and married relations, and is as well understood as an expression of business or profession as the term inerchant.

The law, however, requires that the short-hand notes must be filed with the County Clerk.

Deputy Clerk Fleming was called, and testified that the notes had been deposited in the County Clerk's office, in the usual place for them, but they had not been marked "filed."

The Court held that this did not constitute a filing in law, and refused to allow the deposition to be read.

The District Attorney asked that the Clerk be ordered to file this nunc pro tune, as of the proper date.

Objected to, that it is too late.

The Court: Let the filing be at once made.

I saw a difficulty between them on January top of Vedani, pounding him. He had knocked him down. I left them fighting.

Cross-examined: This difficulty took place in the kitchen of the Roma Hotel.
There were others present, but I was a stranger there at that time. I think I saw an Italian named Tom there, but am not sure. I do not see anybody here in court that I saw there. I would not know them.

THE BEAUTIFUL.

There is enough of true merit in the superb climate of Southern California nough to praise in the magnificent cenery and the remarkable fertility of the soil, to make it quite unnecessary to resort to foolish expressions or mis statements of any character. CLARE-MONT, the beautiful new town on the Santa Fe route, midway between San Bernardino and Los Angeles, possesses all the requirements to make it the leading suburb of Los Angeles - the mountain home, the place of rest, the sanitarium. Why? This can be anfully at all the new towns, and then examine the peculiar attractions of Claremont. Located at the foot of the picturesque San Antonio canyon, it nonopolizes the only good view of that grandest of our mountain peaks, "Old Baldy." The pure water, the inviting pools teeming with brook-trout, can only be reached easily from Claremont. Below us, some 400 feet, is Pomona, nestled in a valley as lovely as that of Cashmere, and as fruitful as that of Egypt.

The panorama from Claremont is not equaled in California. Our water supply is the very best. We are the very center of the great artesian belt. The Claremont Water Company pipe us water under 100-foot pressure.

Our soil is the most productive in California. Mortal eye never looked upon roses, strawberries, apricots, peaches, plums, oranges or lemons more perfect than those of Claremont. We are authorized to state that commutation tickets will be sold to Clare mont residents at very low rates at once upon the opening of the railroad. This week, "The Manchester," an exquisite hotel, will be begun. The most picturesque cottage on the line is now building; a bank building contracted for. The railroad company will make their depot grounds a park. The depot will be an artistic building, calculated to please the class of residents that are sure to make Claremont their home. The Pacific Land Improvement Company take pride in Claremont as their first town. The street-grading and general improvements are going on rapidly. Visit the property. Make an investment that will pay you 100 per ent. in a few months.

Now that Editor Dawson, of the Charleston News and Courier, has sued the New York Sun for libel, laying his damages at $100,000, the Atlanta Constitution should take warning. The worm has turned, and facetious Editor Dawson's silk socks may longer be tolerated.

THE fact that the combined street railroad companies of the city have concluded to adopt bituminous rock paving for the spaces between their rails, and two feet each side, will probably have an important bearing in determining the paving material for Los Angeles streets. The railroad people have investigated the subject pretty thoroughly, and they would not know ingly adopt anything of an inferior quality-they could not afford to do so.

THE platform drawn up largely by Col. Henry Watterson for the Kentucky Democrats contains the follow-"We declare our confidence in the integrity and conscientious devocongratulate the country and the party upon the accession of a Democratic Administration national, economic and clean." And yet Mr. Watterson is doing his best to prevent a repetition of the present "national, economic and clean" Administration.

THE exports of wheat and wheat flour since July 1, 1886, have reached the equivalent of 130,000,000 bushels and still continue at the rate of 3,000-000 bushels. If they continue at the ame rate until June 30th, the end of the fiscal year, they will reach 157,000-000 bushels. The surplus of the crop for 1886 has already been exported. and the exports for the balance of the fiscal year must be drawn from the reserve carried over last year. Fortunately, this amounted to from 75,000-000 to 85,000,000 of bushels, so that a further shipment of twenty-eight to thirty millions of bushels would still leave a healthy supply for contingencies. The new crop promises well, and there is no prospect of a scarcity either in the near or remote future. We have the surplus on hand to sell, and are glad the foreigners want to

Pensioning School Teach

Homer B. Sprague, of San Francisco contributes to the current number of the Pacific Educational Journal a thoughtful paper on this subject, which should challenge a general discussion by the press of the State.

It is urged, very justly, that the con pensation of the average teacher in our public schools is not sufficient to enable alm to rear a family creditably and, at the same time, leave a margin for the 'rainy day" which is sure to come at last. Probably, for this reason, conjointly with some others, the profession of teaching is adopted as a makeshift or a stepping-stone for something bet-ter, more than any other calling, and the efficiency of the schools suffers thereby

However well-fitted a teacher may be, and however attractive the profes sion may be, he dare not remain in it The liability to be ousted from it with out fault of his, and the sure prospect of being dropped at last, like a broken-down horse, turned loose to starve in the highway, stare him in the face; and common prudence, to say nothing of the aspirations of ambition, dictates the early abandonment of the business for more lucrative and stable employment

If the proposition of Senator Vrooman, in the last Legislature, to pension public school teachers, after a faithful service of thirty years, were adopted it would give a dignity and stability to the profession which can be gained in no other way.

Mr. Sprague submits that the pension should be granted, not simply for the sake of the teacher, but for the sake of the community. He says:

the community. He says:

"It cannot be too deeply impressed upon all minds that it is the bounden duty and the highest interest of the State to train all its children, if possible, to be intelligent and skillful in public matters, and patriotic and high-minded in all things. The only sufficient instrumentality at the disposal of the State is the public school. Universities, colleges, seminaries, private schools, parochial schools, Sunday-schools and home training may do something, but they cannot do enough. They leave the great mass of the children and youth uninstructed in citizenship. It is the public schools, and these only, that can do this work and do it well. That is their special object and proper function. In such training and instruction may be found the means of solution of every difficult political problem and the reinfedy for every political evil. A right public-school system, generously maintained and wissly monaged is therefore. the reafedy for every political cvil. A right public-school system, generously maintained and wisely managed, is therefore the one thing most indispensable. We may be pardoned for reiterating that the public school is not only the most important of all agencies in the hands of the State for the production of good citizenship, but it is the only instrumentality in the hands of the State for the attainment and preservation of that most fundamental and vital of all public interests. For the accomplishment of this end the best instructors must be secured."

His complision is logical and just

His conclusion is logical and just:

"This is a matter that vitally concerns the whole physical as well as mental and moral progress of California. Give the teachers this assurance of a sufficient support in old age, and you not only lift a load of anxiety from thousands, and inspire them to work for the young with more diligence, more cheerfulness and courage, but our sons and daughters are at once the gainers, and ere long the whole body politic will feel the thrill of new life and health. California is eager to draw to herself a desirable population, but the best will not come without a certainty of good schools.

"Given this guarantee to teachers, and there would be need of but one other great measure of legislation, viz., free text-books for every child, to make the public schools of California in the near future the pride of America, and to insure for her a population whose intellectual advancement would be commensurate with her wonderful material prosperity." His conclusion is logical and just:

The General Spring Outlook.

Eastern journals note an unusual amount of activity in business throughout the country, and a more cheering industrial outlook than has obtained during any year for the past quarter of a century.

A peculiarly encouraging feature in the present condition of industrial afremarks, from Atlanta concerning fairs is the fact that this unusual activity is confined to no one particular channel of industry. In all departments of trade, of commerce and of business, throughout all the different sections of the Union, the business outook is most cheering, and is based on the most reliable foundations. Judging from the present indications, the country will enjoy the coming year a season of greater prosperity than has ever before been experienced in its history

Says the Philadelphia Times:

"The cheering outlook of the present spring is based on the most substantial foundation. Capital is rapidly diffusing itself into productive enterprises; labor is better rewarded than it was during the exceptionally high wages of war times, as the necessaries of life are greatly reduced in cost; the people were never so free from debt, and never so able to consume, and there is generally hope and confidence throughout all the various producing interests of the entire country. Employers and employed are gradually attaining better relations toward each other, and the universal distrust of one year ago, caused by the unfortunate cyclone of labor strikes started in Missouri, has been effaced from business circles." Says the Philadelphia Times:

Los Angeles will come in for her share of this general prosperity, and may safely look forward to a year of unparelled advancement.

Jealous Oakland. Under the heading, "Go to; let us have a boom," this is the way the Oakland Tribune talks "iron" at Los Angeles:

"We do not understand how to engineer a boom up here. Let us incorporate a $2,000,000 hotel on the San Leandro road; have an interesting family of young paper hotels growing up around it—one for the Watts tract, one for the Alameda marshes, a couple in Temescal, and so on. Begin digging a duck pond at Mowry's Landling, call it a harbor for the white-winged argosies of commerce, big enough to float the combined commercial fleets of the world. Organize three competing railroad companies to run their lines into the duck-pond. Plan an opera-house at Claremont, with seating accommodation for 500 people, and promise every spectator a telescope, and every actor a speaking trumpet. mont, with seating accommodation for 5000 people, and promise every spectator a telescope, and every actor a speaking trumpet. Lay out a town all corner lots at the Fish ranch, and have a line of eager buyers camp all night outside the auctioneer's office, walting to hus themselves rich. Season windy speeches. That is the way they own South, and it pays. The man who overed that it cost nothing to own an operated company with a name a yard was a great inventor. Los Angeles up and calls him blest."

Its how to engineer a boom, but it is rapidly catching on, theoretically speak-ing. By and by Oakland may become quite a thriving town.

"In these days, when all intelligent people read the newspapers," says the Chicago Inter Ocean, "there is really no necessity for making the opening of the Sabbath services a sort of intelligence-office gazette. Several eastern churches are trying to break in upon the bad practice, and print the notices and distribute them by the ushers in the seats or at the door of the congregations. In some of our churches the minister reads off some $5 or $10 worth of special notices before he reaches his text. As Chicago newspapers publish all such free, there is no occasion for extra duty on the part of the minister. Ditto, ditto for Los Angeles.

In looking for a candidate for Vice-President in the East to associate with the next Republican President from the West, the name of Clarence A. Sewar, of New York, bobs up Gresham and Seward, Sherman and Seward, Harrison and Seward, Allison and Seward, all sound well.

"Will you kindly give me an order on the city treasury for money with which to go to Los Angeles?" said a Boston tourist, as he stepped into the Mayor's office yesterday.

He was well-dressed, rosy-cheeked and confident. The Mayor's clerk, after looking at the young man for a moment in amazement, replied that San Francisco was not that kind of a city.

"Well," said the tourist, "the doctor told me to get out of town, if I wanted to recover," and he tried to cough in a hollow tone.

Plants in Sleeping Rooms.

Whether plants are unhealthy in a sleeping-room is a much-disputed question, and the following would seem a reasonable answer to those who are undecided about the matter.

ing-room is a much-disputed question, and the following would seem a reasonable answer to those who are undecided about the matter:

When there is sunlight the plants absorb carbonic acid, and appropriate its carbon and set free a certain amount of oxygen. This process is not harmful, but rather the reverse, to animal life. The only harm that need be considered is that rising from any considerable quantity of damp earth in the room, but this is probably very slight. But with the coming of darkness this process of absorption of carbonic acid ceases, and a certain amount of gas is given off, just how much, of course, varies with the quantity and kind of plants. The effect is in kind, if not in degree, very much the same as that of having another person sleeping in the same room. If you can arrange your plants upon a stand with casters, that can be rolled out of the room before sundown, and brought back in the morning, the plants will probably be harmless; otherwise they are better away.

"What for?"
"Trying to elevate the profession."
"How?"
"Well. I put on a plug hat, kid gloves and a pair of eye glasses, and I raised my hat to the ladies as they got on and off the car, and at the end of three days I was told to walk. There were twenty-six complaints lodged against me."

"What for?"

"Being too polite to the patrons of oad. Singular town this is. The lad on't seem to appreciate true politeness."

Hairpin Headaches.

Women suffer sometimes from what is called "harpin headache," as well as nervous headache. Both often may be cured by taking out the steel hairpins and letting the hair down for a while. Sometimes a quick brushing of the hair over the seat of the pain will drive it off entirely. An old letter was the two the pain will drive it off entirely. the pain will drive it off entirely. An old lady says it was her mother's remedy to run back and forth through the hair a set of steel knitting-needles, and she would recommend "steel points" every time in cases of headache. For those subject to this kind of headache, horn or imitation shell hairpins might be tried, but if the "ache" arises from the stomach, as is frequently the case, neither a change of hairpins nor an application of "steel points" will effect a cure.

The Climate Did What It Could.

[San Francisco Alta.]
Eastern faith in the climate of California Eastern faith in the climate of California was strong in an eastern man who, while asleep, swallowed a set of false teeth. Concealing the cause of his sickness, he permitted his physician to send him to this State, where a year's residence failed to bring up the teeth, and just as his neighbors were denouncing our climate as if it were a fraudulent patent medicine, he confesses the cause of his sickness and dies. It is due to truth to say that while here, however, he began to cut a set of new teeth.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.— By the Associated Press. The Merchant tomorrow will say: "A sharp advance in the prices of wine is anticipated owing to the small stock of old wine on hand, to the poor facilities offered wine-makers for storage and for obtaining advances thereon, to the superior quality of last year's rintage for which there have been inquiries from the East and Europe, to the effects of the late frosts, which will reduce the coming vintage in some large producing wine sections by one-third, and to arrangements recently completed for reducing must, which will relieve the market from any possibility of a surplus for many years to come. Two Chinamen called on them on Monday, and while conversing with them attempted to pass a bundle of clothing to them. The action was detected and the clothing confiscated. The bundle was found to contain carefully prepared diagrams of Chinatown, with a complete list of questions asked in the United States courts of Chinamen claiming previous residence, and to each question a minute and elaborate reply was appended. Club Races.

By Telegraph to The Times,
Louisville (Ky.), May 12.—[By the Associated Press.] The second day of the Louisville spring meeting witnessed some good racing. The time was excellent, and notwithstanding a shower just before 2 o'clock and heavy threatening weather overhead, there were between 5000 and 6000 people present. The judges were Maj. John S. Clark, of Lexington, Capt. James Franklin, of Gallatin, Tenn., and Col. Lewis Clark. The timers were W. S. Bainer, B. G. Thomas, and Mr. Van Kirkman, of Nashville. It did not rain long enough to hurt the track any, and the clouds afforded protection from the sun. Some trouble and long delay occurred over the fourth race. Little Minch came in first, Modesty second, Col. Owens third, and Redstone fourth, but Modesty claimed a foul. As they passed into the stretch Little Minch had swerved in front of her, cutting her off. Little Minch would have won, anyway, but the judges decided Modesty first, Col. Owens second, Redstone third and Little Minch last. The dark ones continued to make the big betters unhappy, Los Angeles and Volante being the only two favorites who came up to expectations. First race, five furlongs, Louisville Ladles' stakes, for 2-year-old fillies—The starters were Connie B. (Blaylock), Amelia P. The Crow ran off three miles this morning, and was scratched in the race. After several falles starts they got off to a good start, Kitty Gunn in the lead of Los Angeles. At the head of the stretch Winona was first, Los Angeles second, Kitty Gunn third. They raced in this way to the wire. Los Angeles won by a length, Winona Nes two lengths in front of Ocean. Owens, Redstone, Allegheny, Blaze Ban, Glen Ban, Tom Berlin, Dark Hall, Miss Cleveland, Little Minch. Marcy Mack got off first, with Tom Berlin second, the rest in a bunch. At the three-quarters Little Minch came to the front, and stayed there, but the judges decided Modesty first.

Fifth race, one and one-eighth miles—The starters were Uncle Dan, Volante, Major Walker, Jennie McFarland, Wary Levanline and Foster. Major Walker led part of the time, but Volante was winner after a close finish, with Wary second, Foster third. Time, 1:50½.

Anderson and Secretary and Mrs. Fairchild, Col. and Mrs. Lamont, Postmaster-General Vilas and Secretary Lamar. The whole division was under command of Maj. Goodloe, of the Unived States Marine Corps.

THE STATUE UNVEILED.

THE STATUE UNVEILED.

At 11 o'clock Marshal Wilson, taking his place on the stand, said: "Attention, ladies and gentlemen: The Society of the Army of the Cumberland, with these distinguished guests, are assembled here today for the purpose of unveiling the statue of that great statesman and soldier, James A. Carfield. The exercises will be opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Giesy."

At the close of the prayer, the Marine band surrounded the monument, struck up "Hall to the Chief," and, amid the clapping of hands, the American flag enveloping the statue was dropped, and the great image stood exposed to the rays of the midday sun, while a battery of artillery fired a national salute. Gen. Sheridan then introduced the orator of the day, Gen. J. Warren Keifer, who, on the part of the Monument Committee, delivered an address transferring the statue to Gen. Sheridan.

At its conclusion Gen. Sheridan, in behalf of the society, transferred the statue to the President in the following words: "Mr. President, this statue which has been unveiled in your presence today, was erected by the comrades of Gen. Garfield belonging to the Army of the Cumberland. They recognized his merit as a soldier, and they wished to pay some testimony to that merit and to his worth as a man. I have the honor, sir, on behalf of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland, to ask you as representative of the American people to accept the statue from their hands as it was given me."

The President, who arose as Gen. Sheridan began speaking, then began his ad-

"Fellow-citizens—In the performance of the duty assigned to me on this occasion, I hereby accept, on behalf of the people of the United States, this complete and beautiful statue. Amid an interchange of fraternal greetings between the survivors of the Army of the Cumberland and their former toes upon the battlefield, while the Union general and people's President awaited burial, in their common grief these magnanimous survivors and mourning citizens found expression of their sorrow in a determination to erect this tribute to American greatness. Thus today, in its symmetry and beauty, it presents the sign of animosities long since forgotten. From this day forth there shall stand at our seat of government this statue of a distinguished citizen. In him we find loving tenderness in every domestic relation, bravery on the field of battle, fame and distinction in our halls of legislation, and the highest honor and dignity in the chief magistracy of the mation."

During the delivery of his address the President was frequently interrupted by outbursts of applause. He spoke fluently in a clear voice, which was audible to most of the vast crowd that filled the circle before the stand. When he had concluded the band played "Hall, Columbia," and Rev. F. D. Power, who was pastor of Gen. Garfield's church in this city, pronounced the benediction. The troops were then dismissed, and the ceremonies came to an end.

Unveiling of the Memorial Tablet to Ges. John Sedgwick.
FREDERICKSBURG (Va.), May 12.—The visiting members of the Sixth Army Corps went from here this morning to Spottsylvania Courthouse to dedicate a tablet to the memory of the late Gen. Sedgwick. Among the letters received was the following:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28, John Rodgers, Esq., Recording Secretary—Mx Dear Sir: I have today received an invitation on behalf of the Sedgwick Memorial Association to attend, on the 12th of May next, the dedication of a monument which shall mark the spot where Maj.-Gen. John Sedgwick was killed. The patriotic sentiment and devotion which erect-among the busy throngs of life imposing monuments in memory of those who died in battle, supply proof of that love and appreciation of our soldier dead which is deeply a part of our national life, but when ground is marked and set apart wherein the valorous fought, blood was shed and sacrifice of life was made which preserved our nation, a holy shrine is erected where all who love their country may devoutly worship. Elaborate sharts of marble fittingly remind us of our soldier dead and of their bravery and patriotism, but the touching service your association contemplates shall chasten all our thoughts of them by pointing out on sacred ground the spot where blood was bravely shed and life was patriotically offered up. With thanks to the association for their remembrance of me at this time, and regretting that official duties will prevent my acceptance of the invitation tendered me, I am yours very truly, (Signed) Grover Clevelland. Letters were also read from the governors of Connecticut, Virginia, Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts and from Gens. Sheridan, Sherman and Keifer. The memorial tablet was unveiled. WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28.

The lives of your children are of priceless value. Every child is sibject to sudden attacks of bowel complaint during the summer months. It is always alarming and often fatal. The only rational plan is to be provided at all times with the safest and surest remedy, and promptly treat the disorder in its first stages, and before the vitality becomes exhausted. Unexpected delays so often occur in sending for a physician or bedicine, especially during the night-or-from a distance, that no one can afford to risk such uncertainies when life depends upon promptness. Keep a bottle of Chambertain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoca Bemedy at hand for instant use. THE SUPERVISORS AT LAST ACCEPT PLANS FOR IT.

Ourlett, Eisen and Outbbertson the Lucky Architects—Gist of the Ex-pert's Report—Description of the Proposed Plans.

The Supervisors ended the long-drawn agony yesterday, and accepted plans for the county courthouse, which is to crown the hill bounded by Temple, Fort and New High streets and the County Jali. All the eighteen plans handed in had been carefully examined by an architectural expert, whose voluminous report was filed with the Supervisors. The gist of this report follows:

whose voluminous report was filed with the Supervisors. The gist of this report follows:

Plan No. 1, while very complete and elaborate, is rejected on account of its extreme costliness, which would exceed the appropriation by about 50 per cent. No. 2 is rejected on general principles, the whole being badly executed. No. 7 is barred out by the massiveness of its proportions; the plans are very good, but the great cost and size precludes the possibility of seriously considering it. If erected as designed, it would entail an expense of about $500,000. No. 14 is also refused on account of its mammoth proportions. The architect is complimented on the skill he displayed, but his design is too large and expensive. It likewise would cost haif a million dellars to erect. No. 15 is rejected for not having adequate accommodations, but the designer is praised for his fine drawing and neat execution of the plans. No. 17 has spacious accommodations, but is inconvenient and awkward, hence it was rejected. This narrowed the fight down to Nos. 6, 12 and 16.

No. 6 was highly praised and commended for the general excellence of the design. The offices are well-planned and ventilated. Other strong points are commented upon, but the whole is refused, as it would exceed the appropriation by $40,000. No. 13 has some good points, but they are outnumbered by the defects. A careful examination brings to the light that the structure could be built within the limits of the sum intended, but would be very clumsy. No. 16 is then approved as being the most practical of the three, and as coming nearer to meeting the requirements of accommodation, convenience, substantial materials and economy of construction, and the suggestion is made that the convenience of the public might be better served with the long front on Temple street, and that some of the offices might be changed to advantage.

THE SUCCESSFUL BIDS.

After long wrestling with the three plans selected by the expert as most desirable, the board voted to adopt the plans numbered sixteen, which prove to be the work of the firm of Curlett, Eisen & Cuthbertson, of San Francisco and Los Angeles, the firm having recently opened offices in the Downey block here. Mr. Curlett is now in this city, and yesterday went over the plans with the board.

The Designs for a Huge and Massive Stone Edifice.

Stone Edifice.

The building, as per plans adopted, will be a magnificent structure, 200 feet by 140, with four fronts. The longest frontages will be on Fort and New High streats—the main front on the former. The architecture is a free treatment of the modern English Gothic style, and very handsome. Over the central entrance on Fort street rises a massive tower, whose top is 176 feet from the ground. A circular tower, rising to the cornices, adorns the center of the New High-street front. The roof will be covered with slate and copper. The building itself will be of marble, granite, brownstone and sandstone, the bids for which will soon be advertised. The expert's estimate of the total cost of the building is $310,990. Following is a brief description of the floor plans:

THE BASEMENT PLANS.

The basement has entrances from Fort street, Temple street, New High street and the jail. Upon this floor are offices for the Coroner, 18x35; Public Administrator, 17x18 and 17x23, with a large safe; Surveyor, 24x58 and 24x25; a spare room for the County Recorder, 24x30; janitor's appartments, engine-room, fuel-room, storyons and several big rooms for for purposes not yet specified. The elevator also comes down to this floor. There are abundant closets, public lavatory, etc.

FIRST-FLOOR PLANS.

In the center front over the Fort-street entrance is the office of the District Attorney, 20x30, with a private office 13.6x24 on each side, and with rooms for officers and male witnesses, each 8x24. The four corners of this floor are occupied by four fine courtrooms, of which three are 50x39.6, and the fourth (at the southwest corner) 38.6x 58.6.

Each courtroom has its jury-room, 13x24; its Judge's schamber, 22x13; its consultation room, 11x22.6; its reporter's room, 11x11, and its waiting-room, 16x37. There are also closets and toilet rooms for Judges, witnesses, jurors, etc. The room for female witnesses, 13.6x18.6, and a public lavatory are also on this floor.

are also on this floor.

In the big tower is the law library, 40x34.

CHASE-FORRESTER.

CHASE—FORRESTER.

A Happy Matrimonial Event Yesterday, at the residence of Charles Forrester, 740 Pearl street, was celebrated one of those nuptial feasts which go a long way toward making life worth living.

The parties of the first and second part were Miss Fannie Forrester, daughter of Charles Forrester, and Charles Chase, of the law and abstract firm of Galloway & Chase. Both bride and groom are widely known and highly esteemed in Los Angeles. The service was performed by Rev. Dr. Cantine, of the Fort-street Methodist Church. About thirty-five guests were present, including only the most intimate friends of the family. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers, supplied and arranged by Lyons, the Alameda-street florist. There was a fine array of wedding presents.

The knot was tied at 1 o'clock, and the company sat at lunch from 2 to 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase left on the 4:30 train for San Francisco. They will pass about two weeks on their bridal tour, visiting the Yosemite before they return.

A Kick on Shoes.

A Kick on Shoes.

Night before last a man named James Farley entered Mrs. Milson's shop, at 109 First street, and purchased a pair of shoes. Bright and early yesterday morning he and a fellow named McGowan returned to the store, and Farley demanded his money back. This she refused to give, on the ground that he had worn the shoes. The two men kicked up a row, and were arrested by Officer Appel for disturbing the peace and quiet of the neighborhood. When they arrived at the police station Farley was about to be locked up, when McGowan put in an appearance and wanted to clean the office out. Both were allowed to go after putting up $10 ball for their appearance before the Police Court.

Dyer's Case.
Fred C. Dyer, the confirmed opium fiend, was caught in the act of smoking opium night before last by Officer Fred Smith, as was stated in these columns yesterday. The case came up before Justice Austin yesterday morning and Dyer pleaded guilty. He was fined $5 and given an abundance of time to dig up his fine. The Salvation Army raided the streets last night with a cornet, tambourines and vociferous lungs. Sheriff Kays ran them back to their tent, corner Fort and Temple.

Bomething About "Tom" Potter and His Programme.

In view of yesterday's telegraphic rumor that the Union Pacific and the Burlington have made a deal to consolidate, there is interesting reading in the following statement from Denver:

The Denver News says: "The full significance of the resignation of Vice-President Potter from the Burlington to accept the general management of the Union Pacific is now known to be the partial consolidation of these two roads. Mr. Potter did not care to leave the Burlington, nor did the stockholders care to have him do it, and while his resignation is regretted, the scheme that he is to consumnate is a part of the plans laid out by the Burlington years ago. The scheme is, in short, to consolidate the Burlington and Union Pacific from Chicago to San Francisco, thus giving them, with the probable amalgamation of the Baltimore and Ohio line, a direct transcontinental system from cean to ocean. Mr. Potter is looked upon as the man who can successfully carry out the scheme, and he will set to work upon its realization as soon as he takes charge of the Union Pacific. The consolidation is to be operative as far as the extensions of each line are concerned. That is, the Union Pacific is to have direct connection with Chicago from the Missouri River over the tracks of the Burlington, and the latter road will utilize the tracks of the Union Pacific and the Oregon Raliway and Navigation Company's lines in reaching the coast. This will relieve the Burlington from the necessity of constructing the line projected from Denver through Utah and Nevads to the coast, which would have given them a direct air line to San Francisco.

"This gigantic scheme is the result of the Danning of the Boston parties who hold the relations to one another, it is believed into Novada to the coast, which would have given them a direct air line to San Francia. "This gigantic scheme is the result of the planning of the Boston parties who hold the controlling interest in both companies, and is intended to bestow a black eye on other railway projects looking to a similar end. The Burlington's extensions will, as stated, be given up, with the exception of a short ine, eighty-five miles long, through the mountains, which will be built by tanneling the range on the line of the projected extension to Blue River and up the Grand River Valley. This will give both the Union Facilio and Burlington an outlet into West Union Facilio's tracks west of Cheyenne. It is understood that a contract was signed on Thursday, in Chicago, for this partial consolidation, or traffic alliance, and that it will be made operative on June 1st. From Cheyenne to San Francisco the Burlington is to use the tracks of the Union Pacific, as stated, but between Deuver and Omaha both will be between Deuver and Omaha both roads are to run independently."

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, in an nouncing the official change, asys: "Popplarly speaking, "Yan Potter" and the Chicago Burlington and Quincy were insepsiably connected. The growth of one has been the growth of the other. For twenty-five years, when as a lineman he entered its service, his fortunes have been cast with it, and from that position he has risen until he has become its first vice-president and the virtual director of its affairs. It would be superfluous to speak of his capacity, his and provided to the benefit and has been for the best interests of his company. It is those qualities which he has managed to the benefit and has been for the best interests of his company. It is those qualities which have made him a typical and representative western railroad official, honored by his associates, respected by his competitors, and regarded with affection and esteem by his subordinates. His career has been one to be pround Cheyenne to San Francise the Burtington as stated, but between Deuver and Omaha both roads are to run independently."

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, in announcing the official change, says: "Popularly speaking, Yan Potter and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy were inseprably connected. The growth of one has been provided to the company of the provided that the index or the conditions of several its service, his fortunes have been cast with it, and from that position he has risen until he has become its first vice-president and the virtual director of its affairs. The San Bernardino Index of May 10th says: The Sau Bernardino Index of May 10th says:
"The Index has been keeping its readers advised as to the course being pursued by the Southern Pacific Company in regard to their coming into San Bernardino. Yesterday three six-mule teams arrived here and went into camp at the intersection of Fifth street and Mt. Vernon avenue, and will be followed by a large force in a few days, when construction will be commenced on the new Southern Pacific line into San Bernardino. The line has been determined upon as far as within a mile of the east side of the Cucamonga bench, from which ten surveys have been unde and submitted. In a few days the route determined upon will be made known and work commenced at this point. This will be a big thing for San Bernardino, because not only of the railroad entering here, the value of which is known to all, but the work of construction will commence here and supplies be shipped out from this town, giving our merchants a chance, and the money paid to laborers will be all paid out in this town, so that prosperous times may be expected all this summer. WEATHER DATA:

The Signal Office Proposes to Give Valuable Points.

The following circular is self-explanatory: SIGNAL OFFICE, WAS DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON CITY, May 3, 1887.

Signal Office, War Department, Washington City, May 3, 1887.

The Chief Signal Officer, being convinced that the data collected in this office may be greatly utilized by those interested in the production of the staple crops, has decided to issue, beginning with Saturday, May 7, 1887, a special builetin, with the view of promptly placing before the public each alouday morning reliable information relative to the climatic conditions which have existed the previous week in the agricultural districts of the country.

Sufficient information has been collected from Signal Service stations for the determination of quite accurate normal values of temperature and rainfall, and as the growth of all staple crops depends so largely upon the amount of heat and moisture, and their relations to one another, it is believed that these bulletins, containing the deficiencies or excesses relative to temperatures and rainfall during the growing season, will serve as a reliable basis for determining the conditions favorable or unfavorable for the growing crop.

The Atchison Railroad people are still surveying in our neighborhood, and we look for a station near our new townsite. The Southern Pacific Railroad should not delay building their depot too long.

Real estate is changing hands about as usual. Downey and Los Nietos farmers are buying here.

Haymaking is the order of the day. A great deal of our alfalfa will have to seek a market this summer.

The following plan for the prevention of the abuse of intoxicating liquor is not copyrighted. It should commend itself to the W. C. T. U., and to all right-thinking (and to all right-drink-ing) persons. ing) persons:
The Government, in licensing place

The Government, in licensing places for the sale of liquor, also tacitly legalizes the practice of drinking. The habit is, however, regarded as a luxury rather than a necessity, and the tax is rather than a necessity, and the tax is therefore made proportionately high. The law does not say how much a man may legally drink, but if he exceeds his natural limit of capacity and proceeds to lay artistic touches of warm color upon the metropolis he is ignominiously upon the metropolis he is ignominiously scooped in.

Now, as the drinker and seller of drinks are equally interested in the liquor traffic, I propose that every man desiring to drink shall be required to pay to the Government a tax for the privilege of drinking, and that such legal restrictions shall be placed upon both buyer and seller as to make it practically impossible for any man to dri k too much.

My plan is, briefly, as follows: In the first place it is necessary that in each community a commission of reputable physicians shall be appointed, to be known as the "Inspectors of Alcoholic Capacity," whose duty it shall be, by practical experiment, to test the drinking capacity of every man who shall present himself for that purpose, the applicant to pay all costs of such exdri k too much present himself for that purpose, the applicant to pay all costs of such examination. After the applicant has been thoroughly tested the commission shall certify to his precise capacity for all kinds of liquors—for instance, so many drinks of straight whisky, so many cocktails, so many bottles of heer many cocktains, so many bottles of beer, so many bottles of wine, etc., etc., per day. The commission shall then be authorized to sell to the qualified drinker, upon payment of a suitable fee, a card bearing his full name and address, his bearing his full name and address, his photograph, and a certified statement of his drinking capacity, with such number of coupons attached as he may desire, not exceeding the limit of his capacity per day, the coupons to be redeemed in cash, and good only for the day and date stamped upon them. These coupons only shall be receivable for drinks; they shall be canceled immediately upon presentation; they shall not be good if detached, and it shall be a penal offense to sell or give to any person drinks in excess of his coupons, or upon coupons issued to his coupons, or upon coupons issued to another person. Any dealer violating this law shall forfeit his license and be a another person. Any dealer violating this law shall forfeit his license and be forever barred from selling liquor.

Likewise the drinker who violates or attempts to violate this law shall at once forfeit his license, be punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, and shall not be allowed to take out another license. No license to drink shall be granted to any man except upon the written approval of his wife, if he be married, or of his immediate family, if single, and three reputable citizens of his immediate neighborhood.

The names and pictures of all persons taking out drinking licenses shall be published monthly in the two newspapers of the largest circulation in each community.

Here is the problem solved: Moderate drinking permitted, excessive drinking rendered impossible, increased revenue to the nation and happiness and prosperity to all.

The widening and grading of Cleveland avenue has been completed its entire length, making happy those so fortunate as to possess property on this new, very attractive thoroughfare.

Members of the Methodist Church are looking forward with regret to the month of September, when Rev. John White, their pastor, will be obliged to acknowledge himself an itinerant of the ministry, and move to some other circuit.

An impression seems to prevail that, in order to make a town, the first requisite is to cut down the shade trees along the streets. It is painful to record that the same civilized idea has possessed some of our progressive cities.

"Woodman, spare that tree," drinking renuered impossione, increased revenue to the nation and happiness and prosperity to all.

Carping critics may find fault with this plan, but I think there is no ground for reasonable objection. Drinking, like voting, is not a right but a privilege. I believe that no one can uphold the excessive use of liquor, the evil effects of which are too well known to need demonstration. Neither will any drinking man admit that he ever wishes to take more than is good for him. It is the duty of the Government to suppress drunkenness, which should be regarded as a crime interfering with the rights as well as with the comfort and happiness of the community. Very respectfully,
